A busy spring season

As spring came, things become more busy. We were able to renew our focus on the ministry little by little.

An hospital visit

A deaf christian lady in New Jersey contacted me, informing me that her ex husband was in a hospital in Philadelphia and wanted me to visit him. I met her there and tried to talk with him. He had stage 4 cancer and just had a stroke. Because of the stroke, he was not able to sign clearly, only with very limited movements. One of his eyes was turned sideways so I wasn't sure if he was able to look at me as I was sharing the Gospel with him. My prayer was that he would be able to understand me and ask God for salvation from his heart. After staying for a while and meeting with the rest of the family members, I returned home. His ex wife informed me later that she spoke with him and asked if he accepted Jesus and he weakly signed "Yes." A few days later, he passed away.

Deaf mini ladies retreat

We were able to host our annual deaf mini ladies retreat (half a day on a Saturday) in March and we had about thirty deaf ladies come. Our guest speaker was Patty DeLauter from Ambassador Baptist Church in Frederick, MD. She is hearing but she has learned American sign language very well in recent years.

Deaf teen saved!

On Easter Sunday, I preached about the resurrection and how we all will be resurrected one day, either for judgment or for eternal life. I emphasized on removing sin from the heart through Jesus. After the service, a deaf teenage girl came to me and told me that she wanted to remove her sin. After she spoke with my wife, she became saved! There's no better way to celebrate Easter than that! She has been coming to church and our youth events for a couple of months, hearing the gospel each time.

Deaf student graduation

At the end of April, we attended the graduation ceremony at Vision Baptist College. Jesse, a student there, is their first deaf student graduating. We met during deputation before he went to VBC and our friendship has blossomed since then. He is now assisting the deaf pastor at Solid Rock Baptist Church. Another graduate, Dayna, who is hearing. We have known her since she was little from our sending church. It's wonderful to see her serving the Lord.

Sermons and Sunday School

During this time, I preached on various topics on following Jesus, interpreting Scripture, and not being self-willed. For Sunday school, I ended my series on the patriarchs, ending when Jacob's name was changed to Israel. My goal for this series was to give them a foundation on first thirty two chapters of Genesis, so they can better understand where their faith came from, it took me a little over a year.

Prayer Requests

- For more deaf in Philly to become saved.
- For our people to grow in the Lord.
- For us to have wisdom ministering to them.
